PFAS Statement

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to address the inclusion of any Polyfluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS) in products supplied from The manufacturer on behalf of Traditional Nutrients, All products manufactured on behalf of Traditional Nutrients are food grade and are safe for human consumption. All raw material is required to be supplied via a USDA Inspected Establishment and accepted for compliance with the manufacturer's own approved supplier program. Also, all packaging material with direct food contact must be FDA approved for direct food contact. To the best of all knowledge, all products contain no known issues with Polyfluoroalkyl Substance or their derivatives as those minimal levels identified within beef products typically are Specified Risk Material and Organ Meats. The raw material used to manufacture all products at HRR Enterprises does not contain any Specified Risk Material or Organ Meats of any kind.

The manufacturer on behalf of Traditional Nutrients continues to monitor the ongoing scientific research in regard to the impact of Polyfluoroalkyl Substances and their presence within beef products. If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact us at any time.

Sincerely,

Sean Cox

Owner and
Director of Regulatory Affairs
